at TU Delft!

Kickstart your research

Join the Electronics Auction!

Do you study at a Leiden-Delft-Erasmus university, a secondary vocational school (MBO), or a university of applied sciences (HBO), doing work or research on repair, refurbishment or remanufacturing of electronic products? Pitch your research(idea) or project at Retail2Repair - and find businesses and experts that will help you with data, interviews and their network.

At Retail2Repair industry and academia will come together for a day full of innovations, insights, and connections for everyone in the electrical retail and repair sector. Here you will have the opportunity to pitch your own research or project, for Danny Murkens (DynaGroup) and an expert of Techniek Nederland. You can ask them (and other business owners) for ideas, tips & tricks, or to connect you to people in their own network. Whether it comes to design, consumer behaviour, marketing, legislation or business models or skills: as long as your work is about electronics, this is the place to be.
